Study the book with the person who wrote it; we'll even provide the book!

Message Content

We had the chance in this week's Principal meeting to spend the day with Jan Hoegh talking about how our work over the past year with Proficiency Scales translates into next steps with assessment and reporting. While we do that work, we have the unique chance to participate in a book study with Jan this spring using her book Planning & Teaching in the Standards-Based Classroom.

The book study will happen during three 75-minute virtual sessions with Jan Hoegh. While dates are still being finalized, they will occur in February, March and April of 2027. We will provide all participants with a copy of the book to use throughout the book study and beyond. All JSD administrators are invited to participate in this optional book study.

Interested? Let us know here and we'll get you a copy of the book.

We'll keep you posted on exact dates and times for the book study. We just want it to be on your radar while it's fresh. It's unusual to get the chance to talk in this setting with the leading expert in the field while we're actually doing the things she's writing about. If you're interested, let us know and we'll get the book for you. If the final dates for the book study don't work for you, at least you have access to the source material.
