

Extended Year for Special Educators (EYSE) Stipend

Frequently Asked Questions

Who is eligible?

Licensed special education preschool teachers, licensed special education K–12 teachers, and licensed speech language pathologists (SLPs) are eligible for this program. Paraprofessionals, general educators, and other related service providers are not eligible.

How many days can we work?

The number of days varies from year to year based on available funding. The number of days is typically approved by the Utah State Board of Education in the spring (May or June) of each year. Annual updates are available on the USB E Special Education Finance (<https://schools.utah.gov/specialeducation/resources/finance>) webpage under “Additional Funds.”

When does the extended year for special educators begin?

Eligible special educators may work within the two weeks before the first contract day of the school year, and/or within the two weeks after the last contract day of the school year. Special educators in year-round schools are eligible to work during off-track days, but not during vacation periods.

How many hours do we have to work for each extended day?

Extended days are the same length as the regular contract day.

I’m a part time special educator. Do I qualify for the extended day stipend?

Yes. You are eligible for a partial stipend equal to the percentage of a full time position you hold. For example, a half-time special educator is eligible for 50% of the stipend.

How much will I be paid for working the extended days?

Each eligible special educator will receive a stipend of $200.00 per day, plus applicable benefits (retirement, social security, Medicare, etc.). The $200 is taxable.

When will I be paid?

Districts and charter schools are required to pay teachers before requesting reimbursement from the Utah State Board of Education.

What kind of work qualifies for the stipend?

Special educators can work on IEP related duties, record maintenance, file preparation, report preparation, assessment related duties, conferring with parents, and other paperwork related to the implementation of IDEA. Extended days may not be used for professional development, instructional planning, classroom setup/tear down, or direct student instruction.

Can days be split between the weeks before and after the contract year?

Yes. There is nothing in statute or administrative rule that prevents the special educator from splitting the days between the beginning and end of the school year. The days can be split in any configuration within the allowed timeframes but may not exceed the total number of days allotted for the current school year.
