SUBJECT: Panorama Student Success

Panorama's Student Success now qualifies as an evidence-based tool for early-warning multi-tiered system of support which means schools may use Title funds to pay for it. Recently Panorama hired a 3rd party research firm to do an impact study of Student Success. The study found that using Panorama Student Success was associated with learning gains on math and reading assessments during the 2022-23 school year. Schools with more actively engaged Panorama users had significantly higher end-of-year math and reading performance. The study met evidence requirements for ESSA Level II, which means title funds may be used to support Panorama. See this link for the full study.

Panorama's Student Success is evidence-based prevention and should be included in each school's prevention plan.

As you plan your TSSA/Land Trust, Title funds, or prevention efforts for the 24'-25' school year - money should be allocated to pay for Panorama's Student Success. The cost for Panorama's Student Success is $2,000 for each Elementary, Middle, and High school.

Efforts are currently underway to pay for Panorama as a District. However, until funding becomes available schools will need to pay for it using their own funds.
