WORK-BASED LEARNING ACTIVITY REQUESTS

Rushell Crane
WBL Assistant

Rushell is the member of our team working hard behind the scenes to make your work-based learning activity requests come together!

Last month she had a request for an activity in interior design for 9th grade students at Mountain Creek Middle School. Rushell reached out to RC Willey who was happy to host a tour! Students were able to visit RC Willey and see a presentation on how interior design works on a showroom floor.

Let us know how we can help you!

Visit cte.jordandistrict.org, hover over the “Educators” tab and select “Work-Based Learning Activity Request Form” to make a request.

REMEMBER TO SHARE YOUR AWESOME WBL ACTIVITIES WITH US BY FILLING OUT THE REPORT FORM, ALSO FOUND UNDER THE “EDUCATORS” TAB.

WHAT IS FARM TO SCHOOL

Utah's champion for agriculture, Gov Cox is often referred to as Utah's 'Farmer in Chief'. He recently discussed how important our local food production is. He said, "We have strategic oil reserves and innovation in the field of energy and natural resources, which has helped make us more self-sustaining for energy, but the only thing we need more than energy is food. We haven't historically taken that same approach with food."

Jordan School District supports Gov Cox's sentiments that food and agriculture are an important part of our lives. Jordan's Nutrition Services is beginning a program called Farm to School. This is a national, state, and local program where students are educated on the importance of making informed food choices. Students gain an understanding of where their food comes from, how it is grown, and the effects it has on the health of their bodies. They are also taught how the community and environment are impacted by food production.

Jordan would love your support as we move forward to bring local and regional foods into our cafeteria. Local beef is coming to our cafeterias soon. Be on the look out in March for more information!

When Craig isn't at work, he spends time with his family or dedicating time to church service. Craig has been married for 41 years. He has two sons- Stuart and Kurt (both married), one grandson- Jace, and a granddaughter on the way. Craig loves spending time with his family and loves spending time with his grandson even more! He enjoys working with his hands, building things, camping, and hiking. Craig will have a lot more time to do these activities as he has announced his retirement on June 19th.
